Releasedate: 071105

Sounds of Zilence proudly presents: Tid - Bortom Inom

This is the first release of the highly independent Sounds of Zilence, a label created for the support of music for music's sake.

The first release from Sounds of Zilence is with a band yet unheard of, Tid.

This EP will be entirely for free for everyone, as a gesture showing our purpose in the music business, distributing music with soul and honest cause.

The whole of the Tid EP will be released only through the bands homepage and as a digital release only, both as MP3, and as WAV files together with the entire artwork available for download. Not to be considered as a demo in any way, this is the way they would like to share their music and art.

The idea is to share this EP in its entire for free, since this is hardly the kind of music and art that could, nor should, be labeled and sold with the usual complications during distribution and pressing actual CD's etc. However, given the possibility to create your own CD consisting of both art and music by Tid, perhaps you can easier get a glimpse of what they are doing. Do as you wish, CD or MP3. Files or records.

This should not be seen as a statement saying all music by all artist should be for free. This is our and the band's way of giving you music, this time.

We wish to share this to those interested in music and art. This is a gift.

We hope that Tid's music will find its way to as many listeners possible, and that it will be greeted with opened minds.

Remember – this opportunity you could just as well have missed.

We thank you for showing us and the band interest.

Sincerely, Songs of Zilence 2007.
